PODCAST EXPERIENCE

Filming was not possible during lockdowns, so Jasmine and co-producer Nikki Yeo improvised and launched Help! I'm prediabetic: The Kurang Manis (Sugar, Less) Podcast on 9th February 2021. The duo co-host the podcast and feature everyday heroes such as 2020 Australian of the Year Dr. James Muecke and The World Games Greatest Athlete of All Time (squash) Nicol David. The podcast investigates lifestyle diseases like Type 2 Diabetes. It features interviews with sports, fitness & wellness personalities from Asia Pacific and is available across all platforms; Apple Podcast, Spotify, YouTube, Website.

They also produce Listen by Heart Podcast, an audio documentary that sets out to interview women of Southeast Asian heritage and honour the women who came before them. This podcast aims to raise awareness about the South China Sea, advocating for peace through storytelling. Listen across all platforms; Apple Podcast, Spotify, Google Podcasts or visit the official website.

FILM/TV EXPERIENCE

Jasmine is directing her first feature docu-series titled, GLUE, about that #inclusion. This is in development. She has worked as a freelance production assistant and fixer in documentary production for international broadcasters under the guidance of mentor and award-winning journalist, Jules Rahman Ong.
